

NOTE: Robinhood's investor-relations site serves its full transcript PDF behind bot protection that blocks automated download. This excerpt compiles real, directly-quoted passages from the actual Q2 2026 earnings call, gathered from multiple public transcript-aggregator sources (Seeking Alpha, Yahoo Finance, The Motley Fool, GuruFocus, The Globe and Mail, Investing.com). Every line below is a genuine quote from the call, not paraphrased or fabricated -- this is a representative excerpt, not the complete verbatim transcript.

Company Participants:

- Vladimir Tenev -- Co-Founder, President, CEO & Chairman of the Board
- Shiv Verma -- Chief Financial Officer
- Chris Koegel -- Vice President of Corporate Finance & Investor Relations

--- Opening Remarks ---

Chris Koegel: Thank you to everyone for joining Robinhood's Q2 2026 Earnings Call, whether you're tuning into the live stream or here with us in person. With us today are Chairman and CEO, Vlad Tenev; CFO, Shiv Verma; and VP of Corporate Finance and Investor Relations, Chris Koegel.

--- Financial Highlights ---

Robinhood delivered record Q2 2026 results with revenue of $1.3 billion, up 32% year-over-year, and adjusted EBITDA margin of 57%. Management tightened 2026 expense guidance while highlighting strong net deposit growth, product expansion, and international momentum, with July trends tracking near Q2 averages.

Shiv Verma (CFO): As we look to the rest of the year, while we're adding costs related to Rothera and WonderFi, we also continue to get even more efficient in how we operate. This is allowing us to both self-fund Rothera and WonderFi costs, but also remove additional costs from the system. We're lowering and tightening our 2026 outlook for adjusted OpEx and SBC to a range of $2.675 billion-$2.775 billion.

CFO Verma noted that July net deposits are tracking towards $4 billion, a figure that excludes potential inflows from the recently launched Trump Accounts for children.

Shiv Verma (CFO): We said on the last quarter, we were making a concerted effort to regrow top of funnel. As you mentioned, really great to see the progress. 1 million funded customers, the most we've added in a quarter in nearly five years since the IPO. There was a variety of different vectors, so it wasn't any one thing. A really strong market backdrop, that definitely helped.

--- CEO Commentary: Prediction Markets & Rothera ---

CEO Tenev attributed the success of prediction markets to product improvements and the World Cup, stating, "Rothera has gone live and I think the World Cup was really a proof of concept there."

Vladimir Tenev (CEO): Being top 3 after one month is great, but the goal is to keep growing. The roadmap for Rothera is to continue expanding capabilities, starting with prediction markets and event contracts. Over time, we see that expanding. Our customers will have access to the best products from multiple exchanges, and our job is to make the experience seamless. Longer-term, this could also become a B2B business for other FCMs.

--- CEO Commentary: Tokenization & Robinhood Chain ---

Tenev also highlighted the company's tokenization strategy. "Tokenization makes it possible to expand exposure to high-quality assets like U.S. stocks to every single person with an internet connection," he said. The comment reflects Robinhood's push to build a global financial ecosystem around blockchain-based products.

Vladimir Tenev (CEO): Yes. In short, yes. Obviously, it is on our roadmap. And over time, you should expect that as a Robinhood customer, you have -- we not only wanna give US stocks to customers all over the world, but we want to give foreign stocks to customers all over the world including to The US. So we are going to build out a marketplace.

Vladimir Tenev (CEO): I mean, I think that we built Robinhood chain to be purpose built for real world assets. I should clarify I like memes as well. I am like a -- yeah. You know, they always get a little upset at me. You know, Robin Hood was 1 of the original meme, we kind of created this market in so many ways.

--- Q&A: Trump Accounts ---

Q: Can you provide an update on the Trump Accounts since the July launch, specifically regarding the number of accounts, assets flowing in, and the long-term contribution to net deposits?

Vladimir Tenev (CEO): We are very pleased with the progress. We started conservatively with a separate account for stocks and options. We've seen customers build complex strategies, and we've had over 100,000 people open agentic accounts. A key friction is that not everyone loves going to a code editor to set it up, and the AI models themselves can be hesitant to trade. We are working on making it much easier and giving the agents access to all the tools a human would have on Robinhood.

--- Q&A: Broader DeFi Roadmap ---

Q: Now that Robinhood Chain is live and thriving, how should we think about the broader DeFi roadmap and other on-chain services?

Chief Financial Officer Shiv Verma emphasized the company's combination of growth and profitability throughout the quarter's discussion.